Stranded gives us a Country, Rock, Honkey Tonk feeling with a slight Rolling Stones esq. sound. The new Seven and Counting YouTube video has it all, along with masterful lyrics.

I can fully relate to this song, especially the lyric: "How does it feel to put on a mask and embrace it like your own skin." I have met many people in life like this who are two faced.

This is a unique love song; he pines for the love he used to have, yet also saying that she ghosted him, leaving his feelings in limbo.

If you're into an awesome song, with more of a classic 70's sound with some upbeat, check out this Video!
