

The Reverent Cavaliers – Nothing Matters But Love

Review by Running Wolf

Brecon Indie Review Team

A little bit Metal meets The Rolling Stones and I also heard Grand Funk RR! I can also hear influences of early Van Halen, and The Beatles.

There is an awesome driving rhythm guitar, bass and drums that keep the beat fun!

The vocals are excellent, lyrics are good and the lead reminds me of that 70's Rock, when rock that was fun and you could really dance to it!

There is no autotune which makes it much more real and an enjoyable song to hear.

I saved this to my playlist and have enjoyed listening to it again and again.

The bigger the audience, the further the Reverent Cavaliers will go.