

"Follow You" - Phoenix and The SilverVoodoos

Reviewed by Michael Lind of The Blindfold Experience

Brecon Indie Review Team

Phoenix and the SilverVoodoos are an Indie Rock band from Asquith, SK Canada.

They play rock with more than a little breath of punk and attitude. The influences of Phoenix are apparent: classic rock, metal and punk with a shot of adrenaline to kickstart your heart.

The rhythm section is loud and in your face.

Drummer Linda King hits the drums like she wants to hurt them, using every little piece of drum skin and metal she can find in her drum kit, while guitarist Roland King lays down a distorted wall of sound.

This gives frontwoman Phoenix Christa a perfect background to shred her guitar and deliver her vocals. Her voice raw and true, she easily turns from soothing to rockin' without catching a breath. Her soloing is so blistering fast that the highway patrol is never going to catch her.

The mix is raw and authentic, with a live sound that is suitable for the band's style of music. I can easily picture this being played in a crowded pub, trying to hold on to a cold one while the crowd jumps and sways to the music.

'Follow You' is a great song that kicks some serious butt!