

Brittle Sun – Paquita

Reviewed by Emily Glazener

Brecon Indie Team Consultant

“Paquita” by Brittle Sun, runs through five minutes like a daydream.

You get taken away and lost in her beautiful vocals. They are perfectly paired with aching prose and Roy Orbison like electric guitar rolls.

These resonating notes flow seamlessly through to the end leaving you thinking of your own lost love. This prompts you to play it again.

Beautiful song!