Jennifer has released a very catchy, toe tapping song that is a super empowering to listen!

The song is all about never backing down; it absolutely makes you want to push through any setback and come out the other end stronger.

The music matches the lyrics which allows Jennifer to showcase her vocals in this great country-rock song!

I would definitely stick around for the bridge, as I feel it's one of the best parts of the song - but the chorus should keep you coming back for more either way!
